STUDENTS TO HEAR NOTED FINANCIER

Sir Robert T. Horne Is Here Today

EX-CHANCELLOR

Speaks at Union Under Canadian Club Auspices

...us name will be added to ...ong list of exceptionally ...ell known people who have addressed ...e Canadian Club this year. The Rt. Honourable Sir Robert Horne is a man well fitted to follow those who have up to the present addressed the club.

Sir Robert will speak to the student body, in the ball room of the Union at five o'clock sharp this afternoon. It is expected that his address will deal largely with the present economic conditions in Great Britain and Continental Europe.

Sir Robert Horne's chief claim to fame rests in the skilful way in which he piloted his country through the rather precarious conditions of finance in which it found itself at the close of the recent great war. With the defeat of the Lloyd George ministry, in which he had served as Chancellor of the Exchequer, Sir Robert went out of office, though he has not, it is understood, retired from political work.

Sir Robert is a Master of Arts and Bachelor of Laws, having received both of these degrees from the University of Glasgow. His secondary education was received at Watson's College, also of Glasgow. At college the ex-Chancellor of the Exchequer became president of the Conservative Club, as well as of the Students' Representative Council. Sir Robert is likewise a briliant scholar, having won several scholarships during his college career. He is also a Grand Officer of the Crown of Italy.

During the recent war, Sir Robert was very active. At the outbreak of the struggle he was a Lieutenant-Colonel whereas at its completion in 1918 he was Third Civil Lord of the Admiralty.

The distinguished statesman, who has already spoken in New York, Toronto Ottawa and various other places, is visiting America chiefly on business. He will return to England shortly.

INDUSTRIAL CAPTAINS TO MEET TONIGHT

Deputy Trade Minister Will Address Commercial Soc.

MR. O'HARA

Plans for Ambitious Banquet Also Up for Discussion

The future captains of industry and plutocrats of Canada will gather together this evening at 8:15 in the Union Cafeteria at a meeting of the Commercial Society, the official undergraduate organization of the School of Commerce. Mr. O'Hara, the Deputy Trade Minister, will be the principal speaker of the evening, and he will be well worth listening to. He has an extensive knowledge of trade and trade conditions and every student in Commerce should be there with both ears wide open, as an opportunity of listening to such a speaker does not come every moon.

There is also some very important business to be discussed. A plan is on foot to hold a big banquet some time in March, to which all the big business men of Montreal will be invited. The matter is to be discussed at the meeting tonight, and it is the duty of all students in Commerce to be on hand, whether they are members of the Society or not. If this banquet is to be a success it must have the whole-hearted backing of the school, and the sentiment of all members of the school must be determined before proceeding.

Refreshments will be served as usual, and these, though the last event on the evening's program, are well worth attention. The staff of the Union Cafeteria have promised perfect satisfaction to the demands of the inner man, so satisfaction there will be.

Irate Professor: Price, you may leave the room.

Price: That's all right, old man, I didn't expect to take it with me anyway.—The Round Up.

REDS SEND MANIFESTO TO THE DAILY

Scathing Denunciation of Present Government

BOLSHEVIKI

Visitor from Zyxmjkil Finds Party Split in 37 Factions

The following manifesto of the Communist Party, written in Russian and signed by Ivan Bumovitch, the leader, was received at the Daily office last night. It is bound to create a furore in political circles, and startling developments are expected in view of the Government's uncompromising attitude toward revolutionary movements.

The Manifesto, as translated, reads as follows:

Down-trodden fellow-students:
Greeting!

Since my recent elevation to the high honor of the leadership of the Communist Party, I have felt an overpowering urge to break out in print. Unfortunately I broke out with measles and was ordered by my physician to take a rest. I am now sufficiently recovered to take up the fight against this so-called Constitutional government which has proved itself shamefully autocratic and corrupt.

But before laying bare the scandalous conduct of the Government, I want to say a word about the platform of the Communist Party. When I arrived from Zyxmjkil a few weeks ago I found the party split into thirty seven different factions, each wanting a platform of its own. When I was elected leader, I decided to have no platform at all, and the party is now re-united and ready to overthrow anything. I am glad to say that the Communist Party is the only one with absolutely no Principle at all. We are opposed to everything, and especially to the Constitutional Party, now in power. We will seek by every means to overthrow this rotten government, and we will stop at nothing to bring about this object.

What has the Constitutional government done for the people? Nothing. What has it done for itself? Everything. It is a well-known fact that several members of the Government are notorious bootleggers, and are piling up fortunes through this illicit traffic. Other members of the Constitutional party have been accepting bribes, and have openly promised to make all their friends either sewer-inspectors or dog-catchers. Shame! Shame!

It is also well known that the late lamented Aunt Kurrie, whose column in the Daily was so eagerly followed, rejected the amorous advances of many members of the Government, and it is certain that quite a number of these members, including the Prime Minister, know more about the murder of this personage than they are willing to say.

When this Government came into power, it promised many things. First, examinations were to be abolished. What was done? Nothing Only recently we have beheld the spectacle of libraries crowded as of yore by thousands of toil-worn students, burning the electricity until they were bleary-eyed and drunk with work, sinking slowly into a state of premature imbecility. The Government also promised police protection for men students at the corner of Sherbrooke and University streets. Needless to say, this corner is still as dangerous for men as it has always been. Again, a new degree, that of B.U.M., was to be instituted. So far no student has been recommended for this degree, though several are qualified to receive it with high honors. The public debt has shown no sign of decreasing since the Constitutional party came into power. Unemployment, except in the law faculty, is still as bad as ever.

In fact, the Communist Party cannot find a single good thing to say about the Government. After many weeks of inactivity, the Premier announced a cabinet. Such a cabinet! In Russia, they would be all shot for their appearance alone, not to say anything about the incomplete lack of ability and general brainlessness.

Down with tyranny! Down with the Government! Down with the Constitutional Party!

IVAN BUMOVITCH.

FOOTBALL COACH LECTURES TODAY

Frank Shaughnessy Gives First Talk of Series

The first of series of lectures on Rugby will be given at the Union at 5.15 this afternoon. Frank Shaughnessy will address all those who have played on any squad or who contemplate playing next year, on "The rules of the game."

During the course of lectures, which will be delivered during the month of February, every phase of the game will be thoroughly dealt with by one whose experience makes him well-suited indeed to deliver the lectures arranged.

There are at the present time many men who have a natural ability or instinct for rugby, but who, through an inadequate knowledge of the science of the game have been unable to secure a position on any of the teams; to these and to all others who play the "man's game" these lectures should prove of inestimable value. All rugby men should endeavour to turn out for this first lecture.

The second of the series will deal with line work, while in the third backfield play will be discussed thoroughly. The fourth will deal with the kicking game, while various styles of defensive play and the correct methods of meeting then will be the subject of the fifth lecture.

DR. GORDON SPEAKS ON TYPHOID FEVER

Related Symptoms of Own Illness to Medical Students

At the regular meeting of the Medical Undergraduate Society last night, Dr. A. H. Gordon addressed the gathering. His topic was "Typhoid Fever from the Inside." The speaker was in a position to describe his lecture in an able manner, as he was unfortunately ill for two months last summer with typhoid fever.

Starting with the first onset of the disease, Dr. Gordon noted all the symptoms in their order. He also explained his own feelings and condition as each symptom appeared. The course of the illness was traced in a like manner to the termination of the sickness.

Following the main address the usual case report was ably discussed by several students. The announcement was also made that the Medical dance would be held on February 9, after which refreshments were handed, and the meeting adjourned.

R. CLARK TO SPEAK TO PHILOSOPHERS

The meeting of the Philosophical Society, which was advertised for January 24, but which was subsequently postponed, will be held in Strathcona Hall on Monday, February 5, at 8 p.m. Mr. R. J. Clark, of the Department of Physics, will deliver an address on "Concepts of Matter and Energy."

The meeting will be an open one, and all members, students and officers of instruction are cordially invited to attend.

MEETING OF COSMOS SLATED TONIGHT

Date of Lecture on Greece Altered

It has been found necessary to hold the meeting of the Cosmopolitan Club tonight instead of tomorrow night, as announced in yesterday's "Daily". The meeting will be held in the Strathcona Hall at 8.30.

A further interview with J. Fotos, the speaker for the evening, has thrown some light upon the topic of his speech. He will show, he said, how History keeps on repeating itself, especially in the Near East—the interminable struggle between East and West, between the political and intellectual ideals of Greece and Asia, from time immemorial, the intriguing and imperialistic policies of the European Powers with the Turk, ever since his appearance in Europe (1453), and the consequent long sojourn of the "Sick Man" therein.

The speaker, who is a Greek scholar having a wide knowledge of Greek history and of Near East affairs, will give a brief review of Greek history and politics from pre-historic times to the present day. He will discuss the causes of the present grave situation in the Near East, a situation which only three months ago brought Europe to the brink of a second world war, and which is growing more and more serious every day, with the French troops in occupation of the Ruhr district; the Germans fomenting with dissension and intriguing for their freedom; the Turks refusing to accept Allied terms and leaving the council chamber to gain by force of arms or intrigue what they greedily covet, and contracting secret alliances with the Russians. This indeed is the outcome of that perplexing age-long Near-Eastern question. A solution will be sought by the speaker and his audience. The topic will be treated from an historical, political and economical point of view. All McGill students interested are invited to attend.

PROPOSE TO ADOPT ONE YEAR RULE

Collegiate Ath. Ass'n Recommends Freshman Rule

OTHER PROPOSALS

Amateurism Defined at Meeting of National Ass'n

The National Collegiate Athletic Association Convention held recently in New York adopted several resolutions of great importance in the realm of college athletics. General adoption of the rule barring freshmen from participation in college athletics was advocated, among other things.

Some two hundred-odd delegates from its membership of 200 colleges and universities from the nine districts of this association attended the annual meeting, which was an intensely interesting one since it was chiefly concerned with questions of athletic administration. The reports from each of the representatives of the nine districts, almost without exception, contained comments concerning the unsatisfactory state of affairs in collegiate athletic administration and this, of course, led to much discussion as to ways and means of improving the present situation.

In addition to the reports of the district representatives, the reports of eleven standing committees on rules was submitted. In connection with the report of the track rules committee it was pointed out that since the resumption of the Olympic Games, 69 per cent of the American Olympic winners had been college men.

Many were the criticisms of the existing situation in connection with intercollegiate athletics. Dr. S. V. Sanford, of the University of Georgia, attacked particularly the growing tendency in athletics in the smaller colleges, which he felt was a detriment to education. The committee on resolutions reported that it seemed desirable that the association should reiterate its belief in certain fundamental principles and submitted, among others, the following resolutions:

1: That amateurism, as defined by this association, be taught and strictly adhered to.

2: The general adoption of the freshman rule.

3: That each conference adopt a strict rule against participation by migrates.

4: That participation in intercollegiate sports be for a period of three years.

5: That participation be denied graduate students.

6: That playing on any team other than one representing his own institution whether in term time or vacation, be prohibited except by faculty consent and under strict supervision.

7: That the whole moral force of faculty and athletic organization be directed toward suppressing the betting evil.

8: Absolute faculty control.

All these resolutions were unanimously adopted.

The association unanimously declared its intention of accepting membership in the reorganized American Olympic Association, and the newly organized National Amateur Athletic Federation.

CLOCK WATCHING AMBITION

Sir: I am not a member of the Ku Klux Klan, but am seriously considering joining it on the following general basis.

If they'll enact a new by-law establishing the title of Knight of the Klock I'll join and become Klocker ekstraordinary to the Klan. My plan is very simple. Would operate under the slogan of "Koo-Koo Klocks for the Ku-Klux Klan." To make sure that the article was artfully suited to its proposed Konsumers, each Klock instead of the usual and banal "Koo-Koo," would repeat every hour the mystic formula, "Ku-Kluck, Ku-Kluck, Ku-Kluck." And on the half hours, instead of the bird speaking, a specially devised gong would remark, "Klan, Klan, Klan."

Think they'd let me in on that basis? Ought to be very profitable.—Toronto Sunday World.

MONTREAL, TUESDAY, JANUARY 30, 1923

THAT SUMMER HOLIDAY

For some reason for which no definite explanation has been given, the term of lectures at McGill has been increased in most faculties by some two or three weeks, postponing the completion of the university lectures until well on to the middle of May, as compared to the last of April, the date upon which they have formerly been accustomed to end in all departments with one or two exceptions. Possibly a longer term is advisable; such lengthening may even be urgent, we should hesitate to express an opinion.

However, the fact is that it would seem that if an augmentation in the number of lecture hours be essential in the eyes of the authorities, the purpose of such will not be served by increasing the length of the session by a mere two or three weeks. This procedure, in our humble verdict, will result in no great benefit to the undergraduate as a scholar, while it will work to his detriment as a worker. These few days between the last of April and the middle of May constitute the difference between a good job and a bad job for the summer vacation. It is a cause for pride that so many students finance themselves through college, and in their efforts devoted to this end they are surely deserving of all consideration. Remunerative and suitable occupations for the summer months are, at best, difficult of procurement. Positions in the woods and on the farm are in need of applicants by the first of May; the same may be said of those in other spheres where arrangements are made for alterations for the summer at about the same time. In addition to the foregoing factors must be considered the student of other Canadian universities which cease to function for the summer interim earlier than our own, and whose students, very often, are nearer the sources of employment than those at McGill. The unfairness of the competition afforded the latter at once becomes apparent. If the Canadian student is to remain independent he must have ample time in which to earn money, and he must be so placed that he can take advantage of employment that is to his liking, insofar as this may be possible. If the course must be lengthened at McGill, let it be done to such an extent that its benefits to the undergraduate as a scholar will be evident; let it not be done so as to grant him no appreciable return in this respect, while depriving him of his earning capacity. A loss in this latter regard ought to be recouped by a gain in the former.

REASONABLE EXPECTATIONS

Many unreasonable things are expected of the college man. There is much, however, that it is perfectly within reason to look for in the man who has enjoyed the priceless advantage of a university training. Unfortunately people cannot be made to discriminate between what is here reasonable and what is not. But it lies within the power of the students themselves thus to discriminate. It is for the undergraduate to realize what expectations he should fulfil, and how he can best fulfil them.

It will be found, for instance, that college men are expected to be well-read. Here is something well worth while considering. A sojourn in an intellectual environment for several years should certainly justify such a conclusion. If the university student has not a fairly intimate acquaintance with most of the best literature in the language, who should have? It is unfortunate indeed, but nevertheless true, that many undergraduates of today are forced to plead guilty to a deplorable ignorance of the Classics of English Literature. A questionnaire on this subject might show at McGill a very inadequate knowledge. Many students even in the Arts Faculty, presumably pursuing a purely cultural course, would not display anything like a satisfactory knowledge of the literary masterpieces.

There is a tendency today amongst undergraduates who do read to spend much of their reading hours devouring "the latest out", both in books and magazines. Attractive advertising or public popularity is often sufficient to recommend a book whatever its literary merits may be. Certainly the reading of good contemporary literature should not be deprecated, but in zeal to be "ultra-modern" and to "keep up to the minute" the past must not be neglected.

Colleges afford a golden opportunity for reading and studying literary classics. If the opportunity is not seized it is the fault of the individual and not the institution. The university supplies the (intellectual) environment, and the man who is fortunate enough to avail himself of it is expected to give manifestations of having enjoyed it. Reasonably enough, he is expected to be well-read.

SHAKESPEARE.

Although the First Folio of Shakespeare was not actually published until toward the close of 1623, yet it is none too early in 1923 to be reminded that this year marks the tercentenary of the publication of this precious volume. It will do no harm, either, to remember during this year the debt of gratitude which the world owes to the poet's friends Heminges and Condell, who collected the plays, printing some twenty for the first time, "without ambition either of self-profit or fame, only to keep the memory of so worthy a friend and fellow alive, as was our Shakespeare." It is a happy coincidence that only a few months ago the British Museum was enriched by the gift of a copy of the First Folio with the famous Droueshout frontispiece in its original sttae, before it was elaborated and darkened as in the engraving generally reproduced. Some may recall that this volume is the one to which Ben Jonson's prophetic words are prefixed:

Triumph, my Britain, thou hast one to show
To whom all scenes of Europe homage owe.

—Christian Science Monitor.

OTHER CAMPUSES

STUDENT ETIQUETTE

Michigan.—Room 142, Arts, was filled to overflowing on the evening of January 18, when the Students Court sat to hear a charge brought against a student in residence, for a breach of Section VI of the "Students' Code." It was claimed by Union Prosecutor Neilson that the accused had been guilty of a breach of good manners and gentlemanly conduct by participating in a hissing sound at the conclusion of his meal. Defendant's counsel, Mr. McClung, maintained that it was a hushing sound that his client had made, and considerable discussion arose as to the differences and relative seriousness of the two offenses. The chairman of the House Committee and several others gave evidence. Judge Parney, in giving his decision, maintained that the difference between the two words was immaterial, and that a hushing sound used in such a way was equally as bad as a hissing sound. He felt that the object of the House Committee in bringing the charge was to call the attention of the students to the undesirability of the practise, and the necessity for its immediate suppression. He felt that the publicity given to the case would secure this result, and assessed the accused the costs of the court.

MASQUERS' DRAMA

California.—Plans for a second presentation of "He Who Gets Slapped" in San Francisco, under the auspices of the San Francisco Stage Guild, on Saturday evening, January 27, the night following the staging of the play in the Assembly Hall, are being considered by Masquers' Society.

THEATRICALS

Iowa.—The University of Iowa's theatre productions include "The Merchant of Venice" and also that modern American comedy, "The Famous Mrs. Fair," by James Forbes.

BOWERY DANCE

Iowa.—Plans have been completed for the second annual Mart, the yearly celebration of the college of Commerce, which is to be held tomorrow night at 9 o'clock in the Women's Gymnasium with Rich's seven-piece orchestra furnishing the music. The affair this year will be far more elaborate than last year's Mart which was thought to be one of the most novel parties of the year. The party this year will be in the form of a Bowery dance, and by tomorrow night the scene of the dance will transform into a Bowery dance hall. This represents the attempt of the people there to make their party look like a Fifth avenue affair. Programmes, features and other attractions of the party have been made to carry out the effect of the decorations.

EXAMINATIONS

Columbia.—Eighteen examinations will occupy the attention of students in the College today, the number being the largest scheduled for any single day thus far in the test period. The total exceeds the number of quizzes given yesterday by three, and more than doubles the eight of the opening day of the two weeks of probes.

U. of T. AND McGILL MEET ON FRIDAY

'Varsity Expects Keen Struggle with Red and White

SEATS SELLING

McGill Skaters Should Prove More Effective

The University of Toronto hockey team will be seen in action again on local ice when they oppose the McGill sextette at the Mount Royal Arena on Friday night.

With a record of three straight victories in Intercollegiate matches, the Blue and White is out to gather fresh laurels, and are prepared for a mighty battle against their ancient rivals. Varsity teams have learned that regardless of the standing of the teams they are always to look for a stubborn opposition in any contest with McGill representatives and the visitors are not underestimating the strength of their opponents.

Although the Queen City outfit maintains the lead in the race for the trophy, the McGill team should show up to better advantage against them than they did in the duo of battles with the Presbyterians. The local skaters somehow could not manage to throw off the close and heavy checking of the Queen's players, and found it almost impossible to penetrate the defence. But the Varsity performers, though they are speedier skaters and finished puck carriers, are not as effective checkers as some of their opponents. Harris and Ferguson, on the defence, are new to Intercollegiate hockey, and certainly are not in a class with Stan Brown and Beattie Ramsay, of last year's championship squad. Harris is a valuable man. He possesses much speed and in the U. of M. game here tallied no less than three goals. But on the defence he and Ferguson are probably not as effective as the McGill pair.

Flanagan should be very effective against the Torontonians. Against their style of play his stickhandling should prove a great advantage and it will not surprise many followers of the sport to see him combine with Morrison for a number of tallies.

The team has not been disheartened by the two defeats suffered to date and the men feel confident of atoning for the reverses when they face the invading collegians. One of the best games of the local season is looked forward to, and Mr. Benoit, of the Arena, reports an turning out lately. All aspirants for the annual contest.

SKI AND SNOWSHOE CLUB TO HOLD MEET

Will Take Place at the End of the Week

Next Thursday, Friday and Saturday afternoons, the annual nterfaculty Ski and Snowshoe meet takes place. On Thursday afternoon the ski proficiency tests will be held on the mountain, while the jumps will take place at Cote des Neiges. On Friday at 5 p.m. the ski and snowshoe dashes will be run off at the Stadium, while Saturday afternoon will see the ski and snowshoer uns.

Announcement will be made at a later date of the meeting place for those competing in the proficiency and cross country runs. The list on the Union Notice Board already contains several names; and keen competition is expected as a result.

There are many good men in this line in college. Knowlton, a newcomer, is a splendid jumper, having won the open intercollegiate jump last year. Gravel, of last year's team, is in fine shape for running and jumping.. Waite of Ottawa fame is also here. Foss and Starke, who has been showing good form in the dashes, are also turning out. Whittal, Sherrard and Leslie, all of last year's team, will all be seen in action again.

Among the snowshoers are Anderson and Egerton, of former teams, and Grimson, a new cross country man, and Mitchell, a new comer to snowshoeing, who came second in the 100 and 220 yards Canadian championships last Saturday. It is rumored that Hammy Hamilton is also turning out.

Those coming first and second in the ski events, and three snowshoers, will make the team.

INTERCOLLEGIATE BOXING MEET SOON

Trip to Annapolis Has Been Arranged

Though the Intercollegiate Boxing meet is near at hand, taking place on February 16 and 17, no heavyweights have as yet turned out at practices. Unless this condition is remedied there will be no one to represent McGill in this division of the meet.

Candidates for the 175 lb. class are not turning out in sufficient numbers, either.

A trip to Annapolis has been arranged for March the ninth. This trip is to be made by the intercollegiate champions, so that if McGill men wish to be included in the list of those going they should turn out to the practices which are being held regularly on Tuesday, Thursday and Friday at 5 and Wednesday at 4 o'clock.

The college championship bouts take place on Feb. 2nd and 5th. Entries for these events must be in by Thursday at 2 o'clock. Men must weigh in, and overweight will not be permitted. To the winners of college championships, small M's are awarded. Efforts are being made to provide a particular drawing card for the assault-at-arms in the shape of a bout between a wrestler and a boxer. The mixed bout is expected to to be full of action. All of the leading boxers, wrestlers and fencers at the local college will meet in the tilt to decide the championship of the university at their respective weights. The winners of the bouts next week are chosen to represent McGill at the Intercollegiate assault-at-arms with Toronto and Queens.

Among other features of the bouts being held next week will be an exhibition of jiu-jitsu wrestling by a couple of experts at that style of grappling. The evening of sport will be the last scheduled at McGill this year before the intercollegiate meet.

Several men who were victors in the past faculty championships have not been unusually large advance sale of seats for intercollegiate honors are urged to attend every practice.

CLOSE SCORE WHEN COMM. BEATS DENTS

10—8 Victory Result of Superior Fielding

Steadier playing in all ranches of the game gace Comm. '23 a 10 to 8 victory over the Dent. '24 baseball, though the dentists were erratic in the opening stanza.

The last five innings of the game were very closely contested, but Dents. attempts to win were checked by the excellent fielding of the Commerce team. Both Sherker and McCollough delivered a good brand of ball, the latter proving steadier in the pinches than his opponent however.

In fielding and batting the Commerce team had a slight edge, though there was little to choose between the two squads.

Magid played well for the winners, while Cool and Klein were the pick of the losing aggregation.

CONGOS GAIN TOP PLACE IN SERIES

Defeat Wesleyans by Score of 16—7

The Congregational College basketball team took first place in the Inter-Theological series when they defeated the Wesleyan quintette by the score of 16—7 last night.

The game for the first half was very even, neither side appearing to have the advantage, but after the rest period the Congos three times dropped the oval through the knitted string in as many seconds and drew ahead with a comfortable margin of points.

Bronson, for the winners, was the best man on the floor. Although not playing the whole of the game he was responsibe for twelve of his team's points. Roberts was the high scorer for the Wesleyans and Stewart played a good standard game.

Amaron managed the game efficiently, calling both teams twice for personal fouls.

The line-up was as follows:

| Congos | Wesleyans |
|---|---|
| Forwards | |
| Sanders (2) | Roberts (5) |
| Bronson (12) | Stewart (2) |

| Davey (2) | Robertson |

JUNIORS VICTORS BY COMBINATION

R.V.C. Seniors Defeated in Clean Hockey Game

Last night the R.V.C. Junior hockey team defeated the Seniors by the score of 2—0, and so won the first interclass game of the season. This victory was due to the good combination of the Juniors. There were few really good shots during the game and there were also remarkably few offsides. During practically the whole game the Seniors were forced to play on the defensive. The two goals were scored in the first and third periods, the first by Miss Dyke and the second by Miss Robertson.

From the very first the Juniors showed excellent combination. The combination of the Senior team was poor, but their individual play was good. Miss Slack made some clean shots, and Miss Kerr's sensational defenses saved several good shots by Miss Robertson. The Seniors made a few rushes, and Miss Basken made several close saves; Miss Bingham and Miss Cameron showed good playing all through the game. Miss Roy played hard and was relieved by Miss Slack. The first period ended with the score 1 to 0 for Juniors.

For a while during the second period no one seemed able to get away with the puck. Then Miss Kerr saved what looked like a certain score. The play became faster. Miss Campbell made a rush and for a short time there was fast work around the Junior goal. But the Juniors showed their superior combination. Miss Kerr did some fine playing. The whistle sounded and broke up a scramble at the Seniors' goal. The score was still 1 to 0 for the Juniors.

The third period was marked by some good shots by Miss Roy and by good play on the part of Miss Grant. Miss Robertson made a number of good shots; of these, only one was not stopped, and this formed the second and last score of the game. Most of the play was around the Senior goal, where a good defence game was played, and Miss Kerr made several close saves. The play became faster towards the end, because the Senior team showed an improvement in combinaton. The final score was 2 to 0 for the victors.

The teams were as follows:

| Seniors. | Juniors. |
|---|---|
| Centre. | |
| D. Campbell | R. Grant |

ARTS '26 DEFEAT DENTS FRESHME

Winners Outclassed Opponents in All Departments

Coupling excellent combination play with accurate shooting, Arts '26 last night took the measure of Dent. '26 by a score of 40—14 in a scheduled interclass basketball game. The score is a truthful indication of the play, Arts '26 at all times clearly demonstrating their superority over their opponents. The latter were lamentably weak at shooting, and their chances of scoring were further retarded by the air tight defence of the winners, who forced them to shoot for the most part from outside.

The play was exceptionally clean, not a penalty throw being awarded to either side. This establishes a record for clean play in inter-class basketball.

Soon after the face-off, Myers, who figured prominently in the scoring for his side, secured the ball, and netted the first field goal. The same player netted five more in the first half, and Perry netted four. One of the latter's shots was perhaps the prettiest of the game; Brotman throwing the ball the length of the floor, and Perry netting it on an overhand throw. For ent. '26 Watson and Star, who played consistently throughout, secured three baskets between them, making the score read 20—6 at half time.

In the second half, Dent. '26 attempted more combination play, but continued to fail in their efforts to score because of weak shooting. They did, however, secure eight points, four of which were scored by Star, and the other two by Rosenberg and Finkelstein.

The winners secured twenty more points, in the getting of which Becker figured prominently, either directly or indirectly. This player engineered several plays which invariably resulted in some forward being given an excellent chance to score free from interference.

Both teams rested their men frequently, so that the game was played at top speed throughout.

The line-up was as follows:

| Arts '26. | Dent. '26. |
|---|---|
| Defence. | |
| Brotman | Goodnow |
| Abramowitch | Finkelstein |
| Centre. | |
| Brown | Rosenberg |
| orwards. | |
| Myers | Star |
| Becker | Watson |

DRAGONS WIN MATCH FROM McGILL C.O T.C.

Contingent Guest of R.C.D. at St. John's

CAVALRY WORK

Hockey Game Ends in 6—0 Score for Home Team

Sword drill, cavalry work, lectures of a military nature and a hockey match in which the McGill C.O.T.C. were beaten by the Royal Canadian Dragoon 6—0 weer the most important features of the enjoyable week-end spent at St John's by the Contingent.

Leaving Windsor station at twelve noon on Saturday, a party of about 40 men proceeded to St. John. Shortly after their arrival the men were given instructions in handling a sword. Though the C.O.T.C. is an infantry unit, this instruction is considered necessary, as the men are training for commissions, and it is essential that officers have some knowledge of the branches of the Army other than their own.

Following the sword drill an interesting lecture on the early stages of the Great War was given the men by Capt. Grant of the R.C.D. Captain Grant dealt thoroughly with all the military operations involved in the first forty days of the struggle. The operations of each of the forces were detailed both from the Allied and the German point of view.

Saturday night the men were free. Those on the hockey team indulged in a couple of hours of strenuous practice whilst the others strolled through the town, a good number finding their way into the local "Imperial" theatre. After the show another tour of the town was made and shortly after ten o'clock the men turned in, though it was near midnight before the men could get any sleep, due to the late and rather noisy arrival of B.Q.M.S. Dormer and some N.C.O.'s, who proceeded to "crack wise" on their arrival, much to the amusement of the others present.

The early hours of Sunday morning were spent in stable work. The men were instructed in the care and grooming of a horse, and taking into consideration the fact that by far the most of them were new to the work, executed the tasks put before them quite well.

After breakfast, the men were given a lecture on saddlery, by one of the sergeants of the R.C.D. The construction of the saddle was gone into thoroughly and the uses of each constituent part pointed out. The sergeant also spent considerable time instructing the men in the correct manner of feeding and watering a horse.

On the completion of the lecture practical work on horses was undertaken in the riding school. The men were shown how to ride a horse at the walk, trot and canter, as well as some of the more important elements of a regular cavalry drill. There were no men on the casualty list after the hour's work, and everyone declared that they had thoroughly enjoyed their novel experience. Noon stables occupied another hour of the men's time.

After dinner the McGill C.O.T.C. six met that of the R.C.D. At the end of a strenuous sixty minutes of play, the latter team came out at the long end of a 6—0 score.

Throughout the game the Dragoons showed marked superiority over the boys from Montreal. The apparent defect in the McGill team was lack of combination play, due to insufficient practice. The three man defence of the R.C.D. was impermeable, and Captain was only given one or two opportunities of displaying his outstanding skill at the nets.

The first two periods of the game were extremely interesting, the score standing one all from the time that the first goal was scored aout three minutes after the start till a few seconds after the beginning of the third stanza, when McKerral found the nets again for the R.C.D. team.

In the third period the O.T.C. defence blew up completely, and the puck found its way past Fidley five times in rapid succession.

For the winning sextette, McKerral played well, being responsible for five out of the six goals scored. Dumford, who was responsible for the other point, played a steady game throughout, and deserves special mention. For the losers, Sgt. McGoun put up a sterling exhibition of hockey, being the mainstay of the McGill defence. Lieut. Lanctot, on the forward line, was brilliant in flashes, skating up the ice and carrying the puck single handed well up towards the R.C.D. goal, and missing one or two shots by very close margins.

Referee—F. Rollo.

The party left St. John's at 7.30 and arrived at Montreal shortly after half-past eight, having spent a thoroughly enjoyable week-end.

THE IMPERIAL

Adhering to their policy of presenting to the public a vaudeville bill calculated to appeal to a variety of tastes, and competing the performance by a first rate photoplay, the Imperial management this week offers to their patrons a bill of truly exceptional merit.

Some of the acts were a little out of the ordinary line, but if the applause accorded to them may be accepted as a criterion, then the public rather welcomed the departure from a super abundance of talking and dancing numbers, which are all very well in moderation, but tiresome in excess.

The headliner was the act featuring Jay Dillon and Betty Parker. These artists are favorites with Montreal audiences, and after seeing their act, it is not difficult to understand why. They go about their work easily and with an absence of effort that is really admirable. The setting and lighting effects are beautiful, and wtih the help of two assistants they presented an ofiering which proved very acceptable to the audience, as was evidenced by the applause.

Lane and Harper appear in a pleasing act, in which they feature a unique baseball game into which they manage to inject some excelent comedy.

Ed. Lowry, a versatile monologuist, who keeps the house in a continual state of laughter.

Ferdinant Theton, a French ace, presents, with the aid of two intrepid assistants a remarkable shooting act, from which those people with weak hearts would be well advised to stay away.

Jahrl and George play the accordeon and saxaphone, their forte being popular syncopated numbers.

Miss Merle & Co., is an unusual act, which the company consists of a number of talented birds, who perform some astonishing gymnastics, and display remarkable intelligence.

The picture, "Chain Lightning" is a thrilling story centering about the race track, and culminating in a smashing horse race, excellently photographed, wherein the heroine wins after a neck and neck duel through the home stretch. —F. M. G.

THE GOVERNMENT

The Government of the Parliament has not been idle. Plans are rapidly materializing for the first session to be held next Thursday, when it is expected that the Premier, the Rt. Hon. V. Barre, will have an even stronger following than that which he had at the last meeting, when he ousted the Progressive Party. Rather disquieting rumours have been circulating of late with reference to a Communistic plot aimed at the overthrow of the Government, but the Prime Minister has promised short thrift for any agitators. The Cabinet meeting to take place this afternoon at 4.15, in the Reading Room of the Union is to be the scene of some important developments, it having been intimated that several highly important appointments are to be made at this gathering.

THE OPPOSITION

The Opposition awaits with some anxiety for the welfare of the state the delayed announcement of the policy of the Constitutionalists. The Cabinet enumerated in yesterday's Daily is neither imposing nor inspiring. There are still six ministers without portfolio, which, to reiterate with justice, means either tiita there were six disgruntled members of the party to whom a fictitious offering had to be awarded, or that the Government, fearing for "the thin front line" on the right of the Speaker, seeks to make us in length what it lacks in depth. This is in either case a lamentable state of affairs. But what the lawyers talk of doing is even more disheartening to those who think of their country; for in the midst of great problems and perils, the government contemplates searching out some inoffensive so-called communist upon whom to bestow that measure of time which a thousand times more urgently should be applied to national troubles and policies. The government enters quite indifferently, quite care-free, into the important role which the fluctulating favor of Dame Politics has assigned; exhibiting a mood which can scarcely command the confidence and support of the electorate of Canada's great cosmopolitan university.

The Opposition which each minute augments that solidity of position always its most apparent characteristic—is watchfully waiting to see how a young and rash government will manifest itself; but meanwhile it makes plain its firm determination to champion greater liberty for the student, and a greater freedom for the members of that institution so essential to the brilliant existence of McGill, the Royal Victoria College.

The endorsation of the statutes revised by a special committee at the request of the Board and which are now ready for presentation to the Board for approval, was deferred until a further meeting.

Soph: "Let me go, mother. I'll be in by eleven."

Junior: "I'm going."

Senior: "Good night. Leave the door unlocked."

KEEN COMPETITION IN SNOWSHOE MEET

Large Entry List for Canadian Championships

W. Mitchell, of the McGill Ski and Snowshoe Club, competing in the Canadian Snowshoe championships, took second place in both the 100 and 220 yard dashes. The meet was held at the National A.A.A. grounds, and very good time was made in most of the events, the competition being at all times very keen.

Among the competitors were snowshoers from McGill University, M.A.A.A., N.B.Y.M.C.A., C.P.R., National and one entry from Dartmouth University of Hanover, N.H.

All events were for the championship of the Dominion and the contestants were eager to add to their laurels the Canadian title. Consequently the racing was of a high class. The snowshoers have been training faithfully since the first fall of snow and gave a splendid exhibition.

Many former runners of note faced the starter. Among the most notable were Bill Fuller of M.A.A.A., who gives promise of a "comer" in the sprint events.

Bernard Harris, who gave a sterling exhibition in the 1,000 yard race at Toronto exhibition also donned the gutted frames. Montabone, who capturced the 440-yard hurdle in the Provincial championship at the M.A.A.A. last summer, entered the Indian sport for his initial time.

Results:

100 yds.: 1, Herbert, Nationals; 2, Mitchell, McGill; 3, Lecours, Nationals. Time, 12 4-5 seconds.

One mile: 1, Mole, C.P.R.; 2, Clouettte, C.P.R.; 3, Drolet, Nationals. Time, 6 mins., 32 3-5 secs.

LOST

Lost, in the Union on Thursday, a slide rule in black case. Name, J. Kennedy, Sci. '26. Will finder please leave with Porter in the Union.

LOST, STOLEN or REMOVED.

A green velour hat at the R.V.H. Finder kindly return to Crawford at the New Medical Building.

Dr. J. Harland Bretz, professor of Geology at the University of Chicago, associated with a number of advanced students of geology from the university, has just completed an exhaustive geological survey of the Grand Coulee section, in the Big Bend district west of Spokane, according to information just received here.

Natural scientists have long been puzzled concerning the causes which have operated in past ages in the formation of the barren wastes of this most interest-in gsection, stretching a considerable part of the way between Spokane and Pasco, Wash., and the formative period with which their activities were associated. While other natural scientists who have done research work in this region have been inclined to assign the peculiar formations to the Wisconsin period, it is said that Dr. Bretz has accumulated indisputable proof that the Grand Coulee was formed during the earliest glacial period, known to students as the Illinoian period.
